Dear _____ of the (Members, Scientists, Numbskulls, Party Poopers)

International Astronomical _____:
(Union, University, Underpants, Ukelele)

My _____ told me that you think Pluto is too _____ (teacher, mom, dad, friend, dog, goldfish) (tiny, dumb, cold, far away, smelly)

to be called a planet anymore.

You also think Pluto doesn't know how to _____ like a real planet, and that (orbit, spin, shake, dance, explode)

it is made of _____ when it should be made of _____ (ice, snow, marbles, chocolate, candy) (rock, paper, scissors, cheese, bologna) or _____.

(gas, bubbles, fire, dirt, clay, playdoh)

Well, you can call Pluto a _____ if you have to. But in my heart, Pluto (dwarf, trans-neptunian interloper, oddball, cartoon)

will always be the _____ planet ever.
(prettiest, coolest, nicest, biggest, most loveable)

Pluto rocks!

Yours truly,

A future Astrophysicist
